

W.A.L.T. (We Are Learning To): Include dialogue to convey character.

We have been learning how to use dialogue to convey a character's personality in a text.

After lunch, the children decided to spend some more time at the climbing wall. "I can do this," whispered Mia, gripping the rope. Although she was quite scared, she managed to climb all the way to the top!

Now it's your turn to write a few sentences that show how a character feels using dialogue.

Don't forget, when we use dialogue in a text we still need to use inverted commas "like this!"
